Nothing brings people together like the transcendent power of music, and the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra’s 75th Anniversary Season serves as a time to not only celebrate our rich history, but to set the stage for the future. The ASO is as unparalleled and vibrant as the city and communities we represent. We have our own unique sound, an appetite for artistic innovation, and a spirit that is woven into the fabric of this great city.

We are Atlanta’s Symphony Orchestra.

During this historic season, we welcome many of our dear friends to join the celebration, including Midori, Emanuel Ax, André Watts and superstar violinist Joshua Bell. Yoel Levi returns for a one-night performance with the incomparable Itzhak Perlman. The ASO performs and records live Mahler’s Eighth, the “Symphony of a Thousand.” We end our 75th season with an Atlanta first, a three-day festival of Wagner’s Tristan und Isolde.
